Dear Investor,

I'm sure it will come as no surprise to you that the nation's top 15 money managers routinely earn profits that put your broker to shame.

For instance, take John Montgomery, manager of Bridgeway Capital Management.

Can the world's most successful money managers pick your next winning stock for you?

Wall Street laughed when John began applying computer modeling methods, which he used as a research engineer in the late 1970s, to investing.

But they're not laughing now: Barron's recently named 4 of his funds among the hottest 100 in the U.S. One of these funds is up an impressive 34% annually over five years.

In June, 2004, John bought Viragen, a promising biotech start-up that specializes in developing protein-based drugs designed to treat cancer and other malignant diseases.

Within 4 months, he locked in a gain of 857% on the trade - multiplying his money nearly tenfold.

But John Montgomery did even better with Navarre, a distributor of home entertainment PC software, music, and DVDs - buying at 85 cents and selling at $18 for a whopping 2,018% gain.

That means an initial position of $10,000 would

Then there's J. Carlo Cannell, whose focus on buying stocks with little or no institutional following has enabled him to grow his small-cap fund, Cannell Capital, to over $1 billion in funds under management.

In March 2004, Carlo saw a buying opportunity in Aldila, a company that makes a premium product for the $24.3 billion golf market -- high-performance golf-club shafts.

In December 2004, Carlo sold Aldila, locking in a 211.9% gain for his portfolio ... neatly tripling his investment in just 9 months.

With results like these, you can see the wisdom of ignoring your broker's advice ... and buying the same winning stocks that the world's top money managers do.

Well, for the next 30 days, that's exactly what you can do - with a 100% risk-FREE trial of Big Money Watch - the only investment advisory that tracks for you the top stock picks of today's top 15 best-performing money managers.

The logic behind Big Money Watch is flawless ... and it has already earned handsome profits for our subscribers.

Here's our system in a nutshell...

You know that the "big money" on Wall Street - the top money managers at the nation's largest mutual funds, hedge funds, brokerages, and pension funds ... generate superior returns that put your stock broker to shame.

Former Director of Corporate Finance,
Standard Chartered Merchant Bank

Former Bureau Chief,
Forbes Magazine

They have to - because their jobs depend on it!

When you and I buy a stock, we are risking thousands of dollars of our own money ... and while losing really hurts, no one's going to fire us if a stock we buy goes down.

But when a large institutional investor buys a stock, he is putting millions of dollars of capital - not to mention his own job -- at risk.

Therefore, these institutional investors spend a fortune on research - gathering intelligence that you and I, as individual investors, could never afford to buy.

So the idea occurred to me one day....

Why settle for the inferior research - the analyst reports - that other individual investors use to pick stocks ... especially when the big money managers are required by law to file a quarterly "13F" form that discloses their current holdings (they also must file a 13G when their ownership position surpasses 5% of a company's shares).

And that's how my new investment advisory service, Big Money Watch, was born!

What we do is simple:

- 1. Continually compare the performance of all of the big money managers ... to determine the 15 pros who are at the top of their game today. (Some managers remain winners for a long time. But many run hot and cold.)
- 2. Keep running portfolios of all the stock picks of these top 15 money managers ... those with the best performance right now.
- 3. Select their top picks ... the "best of the best" ... and invest only in those stocks for our own Model Portfolio.

The most important items we look for when selecting stocks for the Model Portfolio are good operating margins, a healthy balance sheet, solid top-line profits, and good valuation relative to a company's long-term growth.

And so far, our Big Money Watch system is operating with all the precision of a Swiss Army knife.

In our Model Portfolio, we've already made:

- 134.79% profits on DHB Industries.
- 56.67% profits on Dynamex.
- 49.06% profits on Network Associates.
- 53.74% profits on Arch Coal.
- 83.76% profits on Diamond Offshore.
- 48.58% profits on POSCO.

- 80.87% profits on Ivanhoe.
- 47.10% profits on Tesma.
- 58.78% profits on MEMC Electronics.

8 winning stocks the smart money absolutely loves – yours FREE!

With the Big Money Watch service, we not only tell you about every Form 13F and 13G filing -- and every stock -- all of the 15 best-performing money managers have added to their portfolios.

But we also maintain a "best of the best" portfolio - a highly selective portfolio consisting of the top stock picks of each of these managers.

And right now, there are at least 8 stocks from among the 13F and 13G form filings of these top money managers that I'm absolutely convinced are going to leave the S&P 500 in the dust.

Special Report #1: A Mission-Critical Defense Stock ...

American troops are still seeing enemy fire in the Middle East, and former General Tommy Franks predicts we will be in Iraq for at least 5 more years. {PM} We've already made a 134.79% profit on DHB, a company that manufactures ceramic armor to protect American troops against Iraqi bullets. Now we're buying another company in the personal armor business that may do even better.

Special Report #2: Energy Stocks the Smart Money is Buying

Our trading recommendations on these companies are outlined, in detail, in "Big Money Watch Profit Guide for 2005" ... a series of special reports you can get FREE by clicking here now:

"Hire" the nation's top-performing money managers to manage YOUR portfolio – for less than $1.10 a day!*

May I be frank?

The "big money" managers we profile in Big Money Watch would rather you not know which stocks they are buying.

After all, they charge clients a small fortune to manage their money for them. So understandably, they don't want to give their stock picks away for nothing.

A 3D-style orange button with rounded corners and a white border. The text "FREE Reports" is written in a white, bold, sans-serif font.

Fortunately for us (and unfortunately for them), the law requires institutional investment managers that exercise investment discretion over $100 million or more in certain securities defined by law to make disclosures in their holdings.

Not only do we have this data, but we make sense of it for you. When you subscribe to Big Money Watch, you get to see what the world's best fund managers have been doing with their capital. We follow disclosures of the top 15 managers and select only their best trades for our Model Portfolio.

Okay. So what does it cost to find out what the nation's 15 most successful money managers have been buying lately?

Well, most of the fund managers we track at Big Money Watch run hedge funds that you can't buy into unless you are well-connected -- and many of these hedge funds have a minimum investment of $10 million or more.

So... if you have $10 million to invest, you can pick any one of these top managers and hire him to manage your money for you.

But if your budget is somewhat more modest, then you can still track every stock pick of all 15 of our top-performing money managers, as listed in our model portfolios ... for a very reasonable "fee" of as little as $1.10 a day.

You'll also reduce your commissions. Institutional buys and sells can take several months to pan out. So we hold most positions between 3 and 12 months ... and trade infrequently.

Even better, you may try my Big Money Watch service with no risk or commitment for the next 30 days. Try finding a hedge fund manager who offers the same deal!
