

Is this the World's Most Powerful Wrinkle Eraser for sensitive skin?

Free trial extended for 3 more days! You will have to hurry to try NEW SensiTone for FREE!

It had to happen. After two decades of historic anti-aging discoveries, it was only a matter of time before one would be developed that not only produced better results on skin aging, but did so without poisoning, stripping, burning, or drying even the most sensitive skin.

And it's already big news. Now with over 80% of Australians falling into the 'sensitive' skin type, it's not surprising that some cosmeticians are heralding the launch of new 'SensiTone' as THE 'most significant anti-aging medicetical of this generation.'

What is surprising however, is that this revolutionary sensitive skin breakthrough (possibly the most remarkable ever to come out of Australia) almost never saw the light of day. In fact when it was first analysed the scientists didn't even test it on sensitive skin presuming that it would be just too powerful.

Dr Ben Johnson in the USA was claiming that Retinaldehyde was 500 times more powerful than Retinol. While our pioneering cosmetician Vivienne Somers commented, "No-one would recommend Retinol on sensitive skin so putting something 500 times MORE powerful seemed like throwing napalm on a bed of roses."

Fortunately that was not the case. Clinical data showed 'Retinaldehyde' was not only suitable for sensitive skin but was in fact the ONLY ingredient found to help the sensitive skin condition Rosacea with 'more than 75% of people seeing a significant reduction in redness without irritation.'

Another trial proved Retinaldehyde was a better option on the raw skin of acne sufferers. And a double blind study on 144 patients published in the American Academy of Dermatology showed Retinaldehyde was effective at reducing wrinkles without side effects.

"It's what we call the 'Vitamin A paradox'" explains skincare expert, Clint Dowdell, "People with sensitive skin avoided Retinol because the molecules are too large to get into skin so it sits

Everyone who calls the sensitive skin hotline 1300 375 217 in the next 72 hours can see results like these on their own signs of aging FOR FREE. This delighted volunteer had never been able to use powerful cosmeceuticals on her sensitive skin before. She wrote "After just weeks of using SensiTone, I was surprised to see it was already working on both my skin discolouration and wrinkles. Now look at me after a month - I couldn't even have imagined it would be this dramatic - thank goodness I called up for a free trial when I had the chance!"

on the outside burning the dermis. Retinaldehyde is 500 times more effective without damage because it doesn't sit burning the outside but gets deep into the skin where it can be actively used to remodel it from within."

It was a real paradigm shift but one that many agree needed to happen.

"You only have to look at the long term effects of surface exfoliating to know its days are numbered." wrote journalist Sam Brett, "Some older Hollywood actresses skin is now so pappy it looks like their face could blow away! Hopefully SensiTone will replace these damaging peels - it's truly revolutionary not just for sensitive skin but for everyone!"
