The secret is an ultra-thin metal lining that blocks portable radio frequency identification (RFID) scanners carried by the thieves

According to the Federal Trade Commission, as many as 10 million people a year are the victims of identity theft, resulting in losses of $50 billion.

When criminals steal your identity, they can rob you of cash ... buy thousands of dollars in merchandise and travel for themselves on your dime ... even damage your reputation and your credit.

With modern technology, identity thieves can now steal your identity remotely - without you even knowing it. But when you carry the new Card Shield Security Credit Card Wallet, you can protect your identity and stop thieves in their tracks.

A Breakthrough in Personal ID Protection

Today's high-tech identity thieves carry portable RFID (radio frequency ID) scanners inside their coat pockets or purses ... and silently scan their victims' cards as they walk past you in a crowd or even from a distance.

The radio waves pass through your wallet, strike your credit cards, and then transmit your credit card numbers back to the thief. You don't even know it has happened!

The Card Shield Credit Card Wallet is the solution ... and can stop RFID identity thieves cold.

The Card Shield Credit Card Wallet is fabricated from a special light weight high-tech metal that blocks the radio waves transmitted by the RFID scanners.

Carrying the Card Shield is like putting a "force field" around your wallet. No scanners can penetrate. So while a credit card is inside the Card Shield wallet, it cannot be scanned. And you have one less thing to worry about.
