Project Overview

FIRST: THE PROBLEM

The Bakken oil boom is facing a serious housing shortage.

The Bakken Formation in Western North Dakota is on the cusp of becoming the largest producing oil reservoir in the U.S. Daily field production held between 100,000 and 110,000 barrels of crude oil per day from 1980 to 2000, but since then has grown tenfold to average over 1,000,000 barrels/day since January 2013.

This huge growth quickly created over 50,000 new jobs, but minimal housing has yet been built to accommodate the expansion of employment. Currently most Bakken oil workers live in temporary man camps and trailers on the edges of parking lots; but there is tremendous demand for more livable apartments and townhomes. Given the long-term time period of oil extraction in the area, oil workers and companies are desperate to find more suitable housing there. Current figures state that it will take 8-10 years for the supply of housing to catch up to the demand in North Dakota. Traditional developers in the area are dogged by notoriously high labor costs. Additionally, most construction is placed on a 'freeze' for 5 months of the year when the land is basically frozen. These factors have handicapped traditional developers, while opening the door to new, efficient innovation in modular construction.

MONDAYONE SOLUTION

MondayOne is building multifamily townhomes using a time efficient approach, which is combining modular building, with on site construction. Our group brings a strong track record and successful portfolio into creating a real estate townhome development in the Bakken oil fields. The company will build 60 multifamily townhomes less than ½ mile north of the retail and entertainment center of Watford City, in the desirable Pheasant Ridge/downtown area. The townhomes will be leased to oil companies and their workers, and the complete project will be sold after eight years.

These multifamily townhomes will have two models, with options of 4 bedroom and 3 bedroom, each with an attached garage. The first level will be built on site, while the second and third levels will be delivered to the site through modular construction. Such an approach allows us to use superior materials to build indoors in a controlled environment, protected from the North Dakota winter. Modular construction also significantly reduces the cost of building the townhomes, given the extraordinarily high labor costs that have resulted from oil production in the Bakken.

PHEASANT RIDGE MULTIFAMILY TOWNHOMES

The Pheasant Ridge Multifamily TownHomes project will be managed by Katie Walters, a LEED-accredited professional who has spent significant planning and environmental experience working on projects at large-scale master planned communities in California and North Dakota.

We employ fast-track construction techniques to take advantage of meeting the current demand, as well as planning for sustainable future development. Our modular concept is designed to beat the competition on price, speed of construction, quality, and profit for our investors.

During construction, our local office will finalize leases with multiple oil companies who are waiting for new permanent housing to be available in Watford City.

Marketing and Leasing

Oil companies will lease 100% of the completed townhomes. Several oil companies have already indicated strong interest in leasing 20-30 multifamily townhomes each. Currently, MondayOne intends to rent to oil companies with 12-24 month leases, at the market rate for our 4 and 3 bedroom townhomes. Management will transition to begin leasing to permanent workers and their families starting in year 4. Since the townhomes are entitled as condos, MondayOne also has an option to sell individual townhomes to new buyers transitioning to permanent housing.

MARKET NICHE

Consequently, the oil boom has produced a huge housing demand. Over 22,000 oil workers live in 'man camps' in North Western North Dakota, McKenzie County. There is no ready supply of apartments, townhomes and single-family units. Companies and workers want permanent housing, in town. Oil Companies are paying an average of $80 per room/per day for their employees in hotels.

MondayOne has over 70 years of combined experience in spearheading the design, development, and production of modular housing. Our construction approach, utilizing cutting-edge modular technology, permits us to offer a superior housing product in an accelerated time frame, with strong cost controls.

The first multifamily building will be completed within 120 days. In this time frame, management will investigate and accept rental applications during the balance of the construction period, to secure reliable tenants for each apartment as it becomes available. A number of oil companies have indicated strong interest in leasing the entire 60 units.

THE MODULAR EDGE

Modular Homes are the common name applied to factory homes. These homes are built in modules, shipped to the home site, and assembled on a foundation or basement. Modular homes are normally built in two or more sections (modules) and later joined at the home site. Modular homes generally meet the same building codes as conventional homes and in many states, including California, are considered the functional equivalent to conventionally-built homes.

Modular homes are not commonly used in production housing since they offer no cost savings, particularly where slab on grade construction is commonplace. However, modular homes are particularly cost effective for individual home sites where weather is extreme.

Location Highlights

- ▲ Watford City was founded in 1914.
 - ▲ Since 2006, North Dakota has risen from 9th to the 2nd largest oil producing state. Oil production has doubled in just the past 2 years, while at the same time, estimated recoverable reserves continue to increase.
 - ▲ State officials estimate $2 billion a month is being spent in or around the Bakken oil patch; and the North Dakota Department of Commerce reports industries have seen growth and earnings double in the past decade.
 - ▲ The U.S. Bureau of Economic Analysis states, per capita personal income has risen 78% in the past decade, resulting in North Dakota rising from 38th to 9th in the nation.
 - ▲ From 2007-2011, the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics estimates that total job growth in the Bakken grew by 36%. In addition the average annual pay increased to 53%.
 - ▲ Nationally, 3 of the top 8 fastest growing towns are in the Bakken region. State officials estimate that the region's population will increase to from today's 680,000, to over 1 million by 2025.
 - ▲ North Dakota has less than a 3% unemployment rate state-wide. In the western oil producing half of the state there is less than 1% unemployment.
 - ▲ According to state and federal officials, there is an extreme shortage of all types of real estate infrastructure, forcing people to live and work in substandard conditions.
- As a result, many experts state that North Dakota offers the best real estate investment opportunity in 50 years.

Developer Background

AN EXPERIENCED MANAGEMENT TEAM: MondayOne's management team has over 70 years of combined experience in real estate development, entitlement, construction, repositioning, and property management.

KENNY A. DEWAN: The founder of MondayOne, Kenny Dewan is an experienced real estate developer and an accomplished entrepreneur with over 23 years of business experience. In the last 12 years he has acquired, planned and developed numerous profitable multi-tenant, hospitality and retail properties. At MondayOne his skills and experience have been the catalysts for assembling our expert real estate investment team. He graduated with a double MBA in Marketing and International Business from WCU in California and earned his Bachelor's degree in Business Administration from MIU in Iowa.

Mr. Dewan has served as President of ASM, a manufacturer of speakers for Infinity Systems and JBL; President of Monday Group, a franchisee and operator of franchised restaurant concepts; Founder of Dewan Aura Sound, a joint venture with a NASDAQ company which employed over 350 and manufactured transducers and speakers, for Alpine, Philips, Daewoo & AURA Sound.

JEFFREY GILL, FAIA: As a LEED-accredited architect, Jeffrey Gill brings to the MondayOne team over 25 years of experience in commercial design and construction. A Fellow of the American Institute of Architects, Mr. Gill has accomplished award-winning projects nationwide, with the majority of his work concentrated in California. He has planned, designed and executed projects in retail, health care, hospitality and more. Mr. Gill's philosophy is to select teams of dedicated professionals based on each specific project needs, to achieve success as an integrated process from inception to close out.

SANDY CHHABRA: Sandy Chhabra is our Vice President of Construction Management. He is responsible for Entitlement and Construction of our ground up projects. He has fifteen years of experience with Real estate development and has been responsible for completing our projects on schedule and in budget. Prior to being with MondayOne, Sandy was the Director of Operations for DAC Precision, a Aerospace manufacturing factory which manufactured parts for Western Filter, ITT and McDonnell Douglas. Sandy has a Electrical Engineering Degree from Bangalore University.

DAVID HUNNEWELL: David is the Vice President at MondayOne and his responsibilities include working with Accredited Investors. He has spent 28 years in the financial services industry as a consultant, stock broker and a registered investment advisor. In 2011, he founded the Private Investment Reserve, LLC. He was President of Centurion Capital Management, an investment advisory firm and prior was with Legg Mason Wood Walker, Inc., in the financial services sector. OUR NORTH DAKOTA MANAGEMENT

JAKE WALTERS: Jake Walters is responsible for coordinating the entitlements with city planning including agency coordination, land planning, and due diligence for our North Dakota projects. Jake received his degree from Colorado State University in 2003; he has since then spent the last decade providing management services for civil engineering and planning firms across the nation. For the last two years he's been working in North Dakota for new ground-up development projects. His professional experience includes oversight of private and master-planned communities.

MORONI QUERETO: Moroni is the Director of Construction at MondayOne. He oversees the direct construction including sub-contractors and all permits. He is a licensed General Contractor with 25 years of Real Estate construction and project management experience. Previously, he worked with construction projects in North Dakota and Iowa. Moroni, currently lives and works in North Dakota and is managing MondayOne's Birchwood Duplex townhome project.

KATIE WALTERS, LEED: Katie represents the two current MondayOne projects in North Dakota. She resides in North Dakota and has knowledge of the current and future trends of housing and rents. She will be responsible for overall project and property management of all MondayOne projects in Watford City. She has had experience in both the public and private sectors. She spent several years doing planning and environmental work for large-scale, master-planned communities throughout the western United States. Since moving to North Dakota, she has been involved in both the state and local politics. This has given her a solid understanding of the growing real estate market and how demands are changing as the Bakken region matures. Katie is also involved with the Wolf Run Village project, a not-for-profit affordable housing complex in North Dakota. Katie has a B.S. in Environmental Science from Virginia Tech and a M.S. in Atmospheric Science from Colorado State University.
