1998 PHYSICIANS' DESK REFERENCE®

The Authoritative Source of FDA-Approved Information on Prescription Drugs

Physicians have turned to PDR® for the latest word on prescription drugs for over 51 years! Today, PDR is still considered the standard prescription drug reference and can be found in virtually every physician's office, hospital and pharmacy in the United States. In fact, nine out of ten doctors consider PDR their most important reference source. The 52nd edition is more than 2,900 pages—our largest edition ever! And, a new manufacturing process has increased the margin width, thereby dramatically improving readability.

New drugs such as Allegra and Astelin, two new drugs for the treatment of allergies in adults and children 12 years and over; Accolate and Zyflo, for asthma; prophylaxis and chronic treatment in adults and children; Aricept, a new drug for Alzheimer's disease; Photofrin, for esophageal cancer; Lipitor, for Hypercholesterolemia; Muse, a new treatment for erectile dysfunction, and Flomax, for the treatment of signs and symptoms of benign prostatic hyperplasia are included in this year's edition. Zyban, Skelid, and Diovan are just some of the many other new drugs added. Of course, updated information of vital importance for many established and familiar drugs has been included.

You'll find the most complete data on over 4,000 drugs by product and generic name (both in the same convenient index), manufacturer and category. Your 1998 PDR provides usage and warnings, product overviews which summarize listings, plus more than 2,000 full-size, full-color photos cross-referenced to the drug.

You will also find:

- Phonetic spelling for each listing
- A key to controlled substances
- Dosages
- Clinical pharmacology
- FDA use-in-pregnancy ratings
- Adverse reactions
- Contraindications
- Pediatric use
- And all other FDA-required information.

For absolutely accurate information, you need the 1998 PDR.

NEW PDUs Are Now 3 Hours Not 1 Hour!

Starting on 1/1/10, all new PDUs will be 3 hours long. This change is being made to align with the new PDU requirements of the International Board of Standards and Practices for Certified Financial Planners (IBCFP).

The new 3-hour PDU requirement will be effective for all new PDUs starting on 1/1/10. Existing 1-hour PDUs will continue to be valid until their expiration date. However, new 1-hour PDUs will not be accepted for credit starting on 1/1/10.

For more information on the new PDU requirements, please visit www.pearsoned.com.
